

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1872.

One of the English papers complains that our government has "bullied Great Britain out of three or four million pounds, which it was not legally bound to pay." Another says that our government "humiliated" Great Britain at Geneva. On the other hand, an orator in this country complains that we did not get more money, and pronounces the settlement a "defeat." The Philadelphia Record says:-"We believe that the feeling of most people on both sides of the water is one of great relief and satisfaction that a dispute which promised to be an endless source of expensive wrangling has been disposed of finally on terms so honorable and with the award of so substantial a

The expected letter of Gov. Curtin, of Pa., is published. It makes no allusion to national matters, except to say that he can not consent to waive an expression of his views in favor of reform in Pennsylvania, because of the possible effect Hartranft's defeat may have upon the Presidential election. He deems the defeat of Hartranft essential to the inauguration of long-needed constitutional reform in the State, and will vote for Buckalew because of his conviction that that gentleman may be relied upon for an honest administration. He says that he will "meet the Presidential issue when it comes before the people in accordance with his long settled convictions."

Because Mr. Philip Alexander Lycurgus Smith, of Fauquier county, is "grateful to Gen. Grant for many things, among them for saving the Union, and for restoring order out of contusion," (?) and will vote for him in prefer. ence to Mr. Greeley, the Washington Republican thinks that Virginia will vote for Grant and Wilson "if the campaign is only conducted as it should be." How that is, it does not tell us, but if fairly conducted, as we hope it will be, there is no doubt of a Conservative triumph, and a very handsome majority for Greeley and more Sun says :- "A delegation from Texas, sioned by the same disease. representing both political parties, is here awaiting the return of the President to appeal to him to remove the troops from that State before the Presidential election. They want no interference in the issue presented in that State of the election of a Legislature for the impeachment of Governor Davis. Representatives of both parties seem to have no doubt of the impeachment of Davis if a fair election can be held."

The Brooklyn (N. Y.) Eagle, after speaking in the highest terms of the speech of Hon. R. M. T. Hunter, at the late liberal meeting in New York, says:-"No man who reads his speech will hereafter question the small, personal jealousy that leads the new brood of Senators to deny to the old the chance to come and teach them statesmanship. It will not be the least beneficent result of reform revolution that charletans in thought will be scourged out of the capitol."

The North German "Zeitung" of Berlin, of yesterday, says, in reference to certain statements of the Russian press in regard to the recent meeting of the three Emperors, that the unanimity manifested by them and their ministers as to the general character of the policy t, be pursued indicates that the conference will be the most conclusive and fruitful in beneficent results which has ever been held in Eu-

The date of the installation of the new Catholic bishop of Virginia will be definitely fixed as soon after the installation of the new Archbishop of Baltimore as is convenient, and will probably take place on one of the last Sundays in October or first Sunday of November, in the Cathedral in Richmond, and nearly all the priests of Virginia and North Carolina will be present to witness the ceremonies.

Advices received from Bucharest, in Roumania, give later particulars of the dreadful ravages of the cholera in the Danubian Principalities. There is no abatement to the spread of the epidemic, and it is estimated that over 10,000 persons have already died from the disease. The nature of the plague is epidemic in the extreme, and it is feared will spread over the entire country.

Mr. Schurz delivered an able address in German, in Philadelphia, on Tuesday night, on the political issues of the day, to an audience which crowded Concert Hall to overflowing. He was received with such popular demonstrations as to be for some time unable to proceed. Subsequently the same evening Mr. Schurz was serenaded at the La Pierre House, and addressed the assemblage in English.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, says :- "Official advices from Mexico indicate a prospect of a settlement of the trouble between that government and this over the Mexican claims commission which has been in session in this city during the last two years, and also an understanding as to the better protection of the Rio Grande border from incursions by Mexican outlaws and raiders."

Some of the States of the remote West are keeping a new holiday of some practical importance. It is called "Arbor Day," and is devoted to the planting of fruit and forest trees. ANOTHER FABRICATION is going the rounds of the Greeley journals, copied from the Alexandria Gazette. It purports to be a scene in one of the Departments, witnessed by a gentleman having business there, and is designed to scandalize the practice of the Administration in relation to civil service reform. It alleges that | that any action should be taken in the matter a gentleman had possession of the paymaster's room and was calling up the clerks and assessing various sums against them, according to their salary The whole thing is a willful and malicious fabrication, having so little basis of truth, it is a matter of amazement that even an abandoned demagogue would seek thus to make whose name will be turnished if desired. DEATH OF A DISTINGUISHED MEDICAL ARMY Officer.-Dr. David Camden DeLeon, Acting Surgeon General of the Southern Confederacy in its earlier days, died at Santa Fe, New Mexico, on the 3d instant, aged about fifty years. He was a native of South Carolina, and after graduating at Philadelphia entered the United States army as surgeon and served through the Seminole war in Florida. At the breaking out of the Mexican war he went with General Taylor to the Rio Grande, was present at most of the battles which lead the victors to the gates of Mexico, and entered that city when it surrendered, riding at General Scott's left hand. For these services, as well as for gallantry in action (when commanding officers were killed or wounded and he took their place), Dr. DeLeon twice received the thanks of Congress, but was again assigned to frontier duty in Mexico on the ground of his great energy and hardihood. When secession took place he ranked very high on the list in his department; was in sight of its highest place by seniority. Yet he was one of the first of the southern officers of the army to tender his resignation. When he did so he was sent for by his old commander and friend General Scott, who refused to accept it, at the same time offering to send him to the northwestern frontier with the pledge that he should be kept there while the strife continued. In the alternative of his refusal General Scott threatened to put him under arrest, giving him a few hours for his decision. He returned home, packed his trunk, and immediately started for the South, and reported to Mr. Davis, then Provisional

President of the Confederacy, who assigned him the difficult but important task of arranging the Medical Department, at the head of which he acted for several months, until the resignation of Dr. Moore (who ranked him in the old army), under Mr. Davis's rule, gave that gentleman the highest post. Transferred to another department, and to various places ocrats of the Fifth New Jersey District yesterduring the war until it closed, he shared the co he left it in disgust and returned to New Mexico where he had been stationed for many years and owned property. There he planted and practiced his profession until his death. His

The Baltimore American is glad to know that some progress has been made in fereting out the robbers of the Third National Bank of that city. It says: "The Grand Jury of our City Criminal Court, acting upon the informaion of two professional New York detectives, have found indictments against Joseph B. Chapman alias Joseph Barlett, Jos. A. Randall and G. A. Mead for feloniously and burglariously breaking and entering the Third National Bank and stealing therefrom. &c., &c. They have also presented, as accessory, thereto before the fact, Henry V. Clinton, who was arrested some weeks ago. It is darkly hinted that the detectives know where the trio above post goes to prove the wonderful recuperative named are to be found. It is affirmed, and again denied, that they have gone to Europe and have been arrested there.

Newspaper correspondence continues in London in relation to the abuse practiced upon steerage passengers, several of the communications bearing testimony to the statements of bad treatment. The agents of a number of the steamship lines publish cards denying that steerage passengers by their vessels are not properly taken care of. VIRGINIA NEWS.

The investigation into the mismanagement of the office of Inspector of Gas, in Richmond, it is said discloses a degree of looseness, negligence, indifference and fraud seldom found in the most corrupt departments of the worst managed cities. Each Inspector did as he pleased; turned on and off gas at will; contracted private bills, and let some people run their gas bills from three to fifteen or seventeen months. To what extent the city has suffered it is impossible to know; the state of things in existence having continued during three or four years. Four separate and distinct forgeries, it is said, have been discovered.

In the U.S. District Court, in session in Lynchburg, on Tuesday, in the case of the U. S. vs. Geo. C. Langhorne, all the counts of the indictment were either quashed or overruled except two, charging the prisoner with robbing the mail, and on these the case will go to trial.

Mr. Ad. A REMARKABLE CRIMINAL. - Another remarkable instance of the idiosyncracies of the criminal mind is now on record. Cases of klep tomania are common, more especially in feerty was destroyed to the amount of four or five | no sense of morality, not even the certainty of thousand dollars. There have been those to whom the torture and death of their fellow-creatures appeared as morbid, but excessive craving of nature, and to whom murder was a delightful pastime. One abnormal abomination devoted his existence to the work of stabbing young State committees were appointed; also one to women at night, on streets of cities in the vicinity of New York. Nearly akin to this last monomania is the one we would note. A boy named Jesse Pomeroy was arrested in Chelsea, Massachusetts, on Thursday, for the perpetration of a series of atrocities upon boys younger and weaker than himself. He was taken to Boston and fully identified as having committed similar crimes in that city, and subsequently confessed to his misdeeds. The "Advertiser" says: "In a number of instances he has cut small holes under each of the eyes of several boys' faces, which leaves them disfigured for reported that they regarded it as inexpedient life, while in other cases he stabbed them in the thighs and other portions of the body. He said he was very sorry for what he had done, and could not tell what had prompted him to do it. He has always borne a good reputation as a quiet and peaceable boy and would hardly be be perfectly rational, and has not the least indication of insanity. In the Probate Court yesterday afternoon an examination of the boy was had, and he was sentenced to the reform school at Westborrough during his minority.

A "CORNER" IN WIVES .- "Corners" are not confied to Wall street, New York, or to State street, Boston. Neither are they made wholly by dealers in stocks and bonds. The Zulus of South Africa do not need a missionary to teach them to be shrewed. Though a strong and robust people, they have a decided weakness for woman kind. They have as many wives as they have means to purchase, and unlike many in civilized countries, they buy not with gold, or houses, or estates, but with cows. Twenty, thirty, fifty, or a hundred cows are given for a wife, according as the girl is young and beautiful or otherwise. One bold Zulu operator with large capital once bought up all the young and desirable girls in the market of the whole region and compelled all who wanted wives. Of course there was much distress, and this disastrous state of things attracted the attention of their Government, and the recurrence of it was prevented by a law which fixes Khahl Cherif Pasha has been appointed the legal price of a wife to be only ten cows.
